

Resources for Teaching Elements of Argument

Annette T. Rottenberg

University of Massachusetts at Amherst, Emerita

Donna Haisty Winchell

Clemson University, Emerita

Brief Contents

Preface 9

Strategies for Teaching Argumentation: An Overview 11

The Elements of Teaching Composition 16

Teaching Online with Elements of Argument 19

Sample Course Plan Using Elements of Argument 24

Sample Course Plan for Teaching Elements of Argument Online 36

Sample Course Plan Using Elements of Argument with Achieve for Readers and Writers 43

Part 1: Understanding Argument 55

Chapter 1: What Is Argument? 55

Chapter 2: Critical Reading of Written Arguments 58

Chapter 3: Critical Reading of Multimodal Arguments 60

Chapter 4: Writing Argument Analysis 62

Part 2: Writing Argument 64

Chapter 5: Approaches to Argument 64

Chapter 6: Claims 66

Chapter 7: Support 72

Chapter 8: Assumptions 77

Chapter 9: Structuring the Argument 87

Part 3: Strengthening Argument 89

Chapter 10: Language 89

Chapter 11: Definition 92

Chapter 12: Logic 94

Part 4: Incorporating Research 98

Chapter 13: Planning and Research 99

Chapter 14: Drafting, Revising, and Presenting Arguments 102

Chapter 15: Documenting Sources 105

Part 5: Debating the Issues 106

Chapter 16: The Anti-Vaxx Movement: What Values Are at Stake? 107

Chapter 17: Confederate Monuments: Where Is Their Place in Today's America? 108

Chapter 18: Breed-Specific Legislation: Should Ownership of Aggressive Dogs Be Regulated?
109

Chapter 19: Gender Stereotypes: Is the "Princess" Phenomenon Detrimental to Girls' Self-
Image? 110

Chapter 20: Economics and College Sports: Should College Athletes Be Paid? 111

Part 6: Multiple Viewpoints 112

Chapter 21: Social Networking: What Are the Consequences of Becoming an Online Society?
113

Chapter 22: Mass Shootings in America: Who Is to Blame? How Should We Respond? 114

Chapter 23: Climate Change: It Exists. What Now? 116

Chapter 24: Diversity and Inclusion: Are Equality Initiatives Successful? 117

Chapter 25: Freedom of Speech on Campus: Are Limitations on Our Rights Ever Justified? 119

Chapter 26: Mistrust of the Media: How Much Should We Rely on Our Information Sources?
121

Part 7: Classic Arguments 122

Contents

Preface 9

Strategies for Teaching Argumentation: An Overview 11

Introduction 11

Students' Experience with Argument 11

Setting the Tone for the Classroom 11

Maintaining the Forum: Debates on Paper 12

Using Peer Responses 12

Providing Background Information to Aid Critical Reading 13

Teaching Assumptions and Warrants 13

Different Wordings of Claims and Assumptions 14

Teaching Fallacies: The Editorial Journal 14

Distinguishing Between Induction and Deduction: Research Assignments 15

The Elements of Teaching Composition 16

Evaluation and Grading 16

Peer Evaluation 17

Conferences 17

Teaching Online with Elements of Argument 19

General Thoughts about Teaching Argument Online 19

Assigning Elements of Argument in an Online Environment 20

Sample Course Plan Using Elements of Argument 24

Sample Course Plan Using Elements of Argument Online 36

Sample Course Plan Using Elements of Argument with Achieve for Readers and Writers 43

Part 1: Understanding Argument 55

Chapter 1: What Is Argument? 55

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Argument 57

Chapter 2: Critical Reading of Written Arguments 58

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Critical Reading of Written Arguments 59

Chapter 3: Critical Reading of Multimodal Arguments 60

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Critical Reading of Multimodal Arguments 61

Chapter 4: Writing Argument Analysis 62

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Argument Analysis 63

Part 2: Writing Argument 64

Chapter 5: Approaches to Argument 64

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Approaches to Argument 65

Chapter 6: Claims 66

Claims of Fact 66

Claims of Value 67

Claims of Policy 69

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Claims 70

Chapter 7: Support 72

Evidence 72

Appeals to Needs and Values 75

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Support 75

Chapter 8: Assumptions 77

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Assumptions 78

Additional Types of Warrants 79

Authority 79

Generalization 79

Sign 80

Cause and Effect 80

Comparison 81

Analogy 82

Motivation 83

Warrants Chart 84

Chapter 9: Structuring the Argument 87

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Structuring the Argument 88

Part 3: Strengthening Argument 89

Chapter 10: Language 89

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Language 90

Chapter 11: Definition 92

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Definition 93

Chapter 12: Logic 94

Answers to Practice Exercise on Recognizing Common Fallacies (pp. 343-345) 94

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Logic 96

Part 4: Incorporating Research 98

Introduction 98

Chapter 13: Planning and Research 99

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Planning and Research 101

Chapter 14: Drafting, Revising, and Presenting Arguments 102

Organization 102

Avoiding Plagiarism 102

Using Sentence Forms to Write Arguments 103

Oral Argument 104

Ideas for Using the Readings to Teach Oral Argument 104

Chapter 15: Documenting Sources 105

Part 5: Debating the Issues 106

Introduction 106

Chapter 16: The Anti-Vaxx Movement: What Values Are at Stake? 107

Chapter 17: Confederate Monuments: Where Is Their Place in Today's America? 108

Chapter 18: Breed-Specific Legislation: Should Ownership of Aggressive Dogs Be Regulated? 109

Chapter 19: Gender Stereotypes: Is the "Princess" Phenomenon Detrimental to Girls' Self-Image? 110

Chapter 20: Economics and College Sports: Should College Athletes Be Paid? 111

Part 6: Multiple Viewpoints 112

Introduction 112

Chapter 21: Social Networking: What Are the Consequences of Becoming an Online Society? 113

Chapter 22: Mass Shootings in America: Who Is to Blame? How Should We Respond? 114

Chapter 23: Climate Change: It Exists. What Now? 116

Chapter 24: Diversity and Inclusion: Are Equality Initiatives Successful? 117

Chapter 25: Freedom of Speech on Campus: Are Limitations on Our Rights Ever Justified? 119

Chapter 26: Mistrust of the Media: How Much Should We Rely on Our Information Sources? 121

Part 7: Classic Arguments 122

Introduction 122

A Modest Proposal, Jonathan Swift 122

The Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson 123

Ain't I a Woman?, Sojourner Truth 124

The Obligation to Endure, Rachel Carson 124

Black Man in a White Man's Court, Nelson Mandela 125

Reflections on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution, Thurgood Marshall 125